

3d Open the 'profile.html' in a browser.

When the page first loads, it will display an image of an animal with introductory text. There will also be three 'Fun fact' buttons and three sections, each with the text for a fun fact.

Edit the code to:

- ◆ hide all of the sections of text below the buttons when the page first loads
- ◆ show the first fun fact section when the 'Fun fact 1' button is selected
- ◆ show the second fun fact section when the 'Fun fact 2' button is selected
- ◆ show the third fun fact section when the 'Fun fact 3' button is selected
- ◆ ensure that only one of the fun fact sections is visible at any time

Add your name and candidate number to the `<footer>` element of the page.

(3 marks)

```

<script>
    function displayfact1() {
        document.getElementById("fact1").style.display="block";
        document.getElementById("fact2").style.display="none";
        document.getElementById("fact3").style.display="none";
    }

    function displayfact2() {
        document.getElementById("fact1").style.display="none";
        document.getElementById("fact2").style.display="block";
        document.getElementById("fact3").style.display="none";
    }

    function displayfact3() {
        document.getElementById("fact1").style.display="none";
        document.getElementById("fact2").style.display="none";
        document.getElementById("fact3").style.display="block";
    }
}
</script>

```

```

```

```

<section id=fact1 style=display:none>
BODY
This tough little creature has a flattened, stocky body with strong, short legs, along with long claws stretches across its back from the top of the head to the tip of the tail. </section>

<section id = fact2 style=display:none>
ODOUR
Does it remind you of a skunk? The honey badger also has a gland at the base of its tail that stores a or threatened, it drops a "stink bomb" rather than spraying the odour like its skunk relative does. The h </section>

<section id = fact3 style=display:none>
DEFENCE
Does the honey badger have a sweet personality? No! It would be hard to find a more quarrelsome animal loose, allowing the animal to twist around and bite an opponent that has grabbed it by the back of its ne
</section>

```

2022 Task 3d Example Solution

Daily animal profile - Honey badger!

Click here to go back to the animals page

Its official name is ratel, but this animal gets the common name from the fact that its favourite food is... you guessed it: honey!

The honey badger is part of the weasel family and is related to skunks, otters, ferrets, and other badgers.

Fun fact 1

Fun fact 2

Fun fact 3

BODY

This tough little creature has a flattened, stocky body with strong, short legs, along with long claws on the front feet for defence and digging. The honey badger's hair is thick and coarse, mostly black, with a wide gray-white stripe that stretches across its back from the top of the head to the tip of the tail.

Contact us: 0192 611 5391 info@springfieldzoo.co.uk